Lesson 3: Direct and Indirect Object Pronouns

Here is a table on the pronouns of object direct with the subject pronouns and its English meanings .

Meanings in English	Subject Pronoun	Direct Object Pronoun (before a verb)	Meanings in English
i	Je	me	me
You, informal	Tu	te	(you, informal)
He	Il	le / l'	him/it
She	Elle	la / l'	her/it
we	nous	nous	us
You, plural/ formal	vous	vous	you
they	ils	les	them
they	elles	les	them

Few rules for the object direct pronouns :

Direct object pronouns replace nouns that receive the action of the verb directly.

Direct object pronouns are used to avoid repeating nouns in a sentence, making the language more simpler to understand.

Placement of the pronoun : Direct object pronouns come before the verb.

"le" is used for a masculine singular noun, while

"la" is used for a feminine singular noun.

In Present tense,

the direct object comes before the first conjugated verb.

Eg : Je remercie la fille jeune. = Je la remercie. (i thank her)

In futur proche,

the direct object comes after the conjugated verb and right before the infinitive verb.

Eg : Je vais remercier la fille jeune. = Je vais la remercier. (i am going to thank her)

In negative commands,

the direct object pronoun comes before the verb.

Eg: "Ne le mange pas." (Don't eat it.)

When using both direct and indirect object pronouns in a sentence, the order is indirect before direct.

For example, "Il me le donne." (He gives it to me.)

The choice of direct object pronoun depends on the gender and number of the noun it represents, not the subject of the sentence.

Now lets go through few verb conjugations and then examples which will help us understand the topic better.

Remercier = to thank

Je remercie
Tu remercies
Il/Elle remercie
Nous remercions
Vous remerciez
Ils/Elles remercient

Comprendre = to understand

Je comprends
Tu comprends
Il/Elle comprend
Nous comprenons
Vous comprenez
Ils/Elles comprennent

These are regular Er ending verbs so they are to be conjugated in the same manner.

Inviter = to invite

Donner = to give

Examples :

Remercier (to thank):

Je remercie ma sœur pour son cadeau. (I thank my sister for her gift.)

Ans : Je la remercie pour son cadeau. (I thank her for her gift.)

Ans : Je le donne à mon ami . (I give it to my friend.)

Ils donnent des fleurs à leur mère. (They give flowers to their mother.)

Ans : Ils les donnent à leur mère. (They give it to their mother .)

How to understand when to use what , so this is the guideline of what we can
ask to get our answer :

Direct object pronoun	What ? / Who ?
Indirect object pronoun	To whom ? / Comes after a preposition à

Par exemple ,

Je donne le cadeau à mon frère. (I give the gift to my brother .)

Explanation for Direct Object Pronoun :

What do I give my brother ? = the gift . (le cadeau = le)

Explanation for Indirect Object Pronoun :

To whom do I give the gift to ? = to my brother / to him (à mon frère = lui)

Answer : Je le lui donne . (I give it to him.)

In this sentence,

"le" represents "le cadeau" (the gift), and

"lui" represents "à mon frère" (to my brother).

Le pronom de l'objet indirect :

Person	Subject Pronoun	Indirect Object Pronoun
1st person	je (I)	me (to me)
2nd person	tu (you)	te (to you)
3rd person	il/elle (he/she)	lui (to him/her)
1st person plural	nous (we)	nous (to us)
2nd person plural	vous (you all)	vous (to you all)
3rd person plural	ils/elles (they)	leur (to them)

Par exemple :

Je parle à mon ami. (I am talking to my friend.)

Je lui parle. (I am talking to him/her.)

Tu donnes des fleurs à tes parents. (You are giving flowers to your parents.)
